Option 3 - Combined radiant and convection heaters

This option provides the best of both worlds in my opinion, these heaters will provide radiant heat similar to that of a storage heater or panel heater but also has the ability to be used as a convector heater to boost the heat at a rapid rate. These units give out 2kw of heat, the 2 heating systems can be electronically controlled and have intelligent energy saving functions. For example when the window is open, the appliance automatically switches to frost protection mode; the motion sensor recognises when nobody is left inside the room and automatically lowers the set room temperature. The 7-day timer offers 3 preset time programs that can be individually adjusted to suit current requirements.

Hrs/Qty	Service	Rate/Price	Sub Total
1	Combined Radiant and Convection Heaters 4 X Combined Radiant and Convection Heaters	£1,340.00	£1,340.00
1	Single phase consumer unit Supply and installation of a single phase consumer unit to allow for segregation of circuits to supply each heater separately. This consumer unit will be to BS7671:2018 as amended and will incorporate surge protection and residual current protection devices.	£260.00	£260.00
1	Labour Labour to install all heaters, cables for new circuits, consumer unit and peripherals	£1,000.00	£1,000.00
